

CALL for PAPERS

The Digital (R)evolution of Legal Discourse

Edited by: Patrizia Anesa; Jan Engberg; Dieter Stein
Expected date of publication: 2023

This volume aims to provide a forum for discussion for the investigation of Legal Discourse from a digital humanities' perspective. It also aims to create opportunities for an integration of the work of the linguists, computer scientists, and legal scholars who focus on analysis of the processes related to the digitalisation of law and its popularisation in "new" genres and media.

It provides an interdisciplinary platform for researchers, practitioners, and educators to present the most recent innovations, trends, and concerns, as well as any solutions already adopted in their professional areas. Their insights will converge in a truly multidisciplinary effort to devise and build advanced networks of knowledge to facilitate the interpretation of data in the field of legal linguistics with a specific focus on digitalisation processes which concern legal discourse.

The volume will include four sections:

- Digitalisation of justice (e.g. digital practices for the solution of disputes)
- Mediatisation of law
- Popularisation and dissemination of law via digital tools (e.g. blogs, forums, websites, social networking sites, etc.)
- Digital approaches to legal translation and interpretation

The papers must be in English.
